

Whose Slide Is It Anyway?

My Trip

Finally, the long awaited day of departure came...

When we landed, the ground crew was nowhere to be found.

Unbeknown to me, however, there was one small hitch.

Apparently, the rental company charged extra for wheels.

Having no luck with the car rental, I tried to find a ferry.

Without a vehicle, I decided to set off on my own.

This little guy hopped over, stole the last of our food and water and then calmly ate it in front of us.

We were so hungry but all of the food was roped off!

And then a camel tried to steal my girlfriend.

I really just wanted to sleep in my own bed, but when we got home, another surprise was waiting for us...

